ABSTRACT

Methods for facilitating various dental treatments, therapies and procedures by administration of a Clostridial toxin to a muscle or other tissue on the head or neck of a patient.